VALUABLE HORSES BURNED.

Fred Mangold's Barn Destroyed-His Nephew Arrested and Released on Bail.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the stable belonging to Fred Mangold, at No. 151 Prospect street, was discovered in flames and before the department arrived the structure, with much valuable property, was beyond control. Two valuable horses, a stallion worth $1,500 and another animal valued at $500, were destroyed. An effort was made to get the horses out, but it proved futile. The origin of the flames was until a late hour last night unknown, although the proprietor of the barn sus-pected the work of fire bugs.

At 10 o'clock officers Corban and Slate arrested a young man named Harry Kraus, a nephew of the owner of the burned stable, and accused him of having applied the match. He was locked up, but later was bailed out by his uncle, who stated that he believed in the boy's innocence. Young Krans admitted that he had threatened to burn the barn, but protested that at the time of the fire he was at the Park Theater and knew nothing of it.

THE VETERANS OF THE NAVY

They Will Have Their Street Parade on Saturday, Sept. 2.

Plenty of Accommodations for All-Likely to Be 50,000 Men in Line on Tuesday -Meetings of Committees.

In general orders, No. 6, of date of 7th inst. Rear Admiral Osborn, of the National Association of Naval Veterans, has announced that all arrangements are about complete for the association's convention here, events in connection with which begin Friday, Sept. 1. The order gives much information concerning free quarters, and the rates at the hotels and boarding houses, free accommodations being obtainable by applying to Executive Director Fortune. The Kear Admiral's headquarters will be on the Kearsarge, and within three or four squares of the ship free quarters, or "the naval veterans' berth deck," can be secured. The national headquarters train will leave New York on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at 9 A. M. Aug. 31, reaching the city the next afternoon at 4 o'clock, the fare for the round trip being probably onehalf the regular rates. The Rear Admiral urges the veterans to report for in neat uniforms, ing the badge and new ribbon of the association. He also requires that each association shall bring a distinguishing pennant and colors. "Shipmates," he continues, "are assured that never in the history of the national association has any city in the Union ever attempted such a reception as awaits them at Indianapolis. It is the first time the 'Old Navy' has visited that section, and the citizens' executive board is determined to honor and glorify the blue jackets of 1861-5, and we are in duty bound to respond to their earnest call of welcome." On arriving at the Union Station the Black Hawk Naval

On Saturday, 2d, the naval veterans will have their parade, concerning which the rear admiral has issued marching orders designating North Meridian street, north of St. Clair, as the place of formation, the right of the line resting on St. Clair street. The route of the procession will be down North Meridian street to New York, Pennsylvania, Market, New Jersey, Washington, and along the latter street, passing the courthouse to the flagship; Kearsarge, on the Capitol grounds, at the corner of Washington and Tennessee streets, where the Rear Admiral, with the national officers will review the battalion, each association breaking ranks after passing the Kearsage. Local associations will form and march in order of seniority of date of charter. The formation of the column is to be four files front, spaced "yard-arm" apart, the jack being carried at the head of each association, distinguishing flags and pennants in center and ensign after. There will be five paces space between each platoon and twenty paces between each association. The order of parade will be:

Uniformed naval veterans or veteran organizations who desire to parade have been assigned to the rear of the Kearsarge Association, marching four in front. A marshal or commanding officer for this division will be seleted, and assigned in subsequent orders on the day of the parade.

Committee on Reunions.

At a meeting of the committee on camp fires, yesterday afternoon, outlines of programmes were submitted for the several camp fires to be held at the Meridian M. E., First Baptist, First and Second Presbyterian churches, Monday evening, and the churches named, with the addition of Tomlinson and Masonic halls Wednesday evening. At each of these camp fires the programme will consist of songs, addresses by distinguished men, recitations, martial music and other features of patriotic character. Among those who will preside are ex-President Harrison, ex-Governor Foraker, General Dan Macauley, Governor Mc-Kinley and General R. S. Foster. The instrumental music at the churches will be that of the organ, the organist at each having volunteered his services-Professor Newland at the Second, Hansen at the Meridian M. E., Schonacker at the First Church, and Professor Donnelly at the First Baptist. A number of men of prominence in the Grand Army have been invited to make addresses, and from some responses have been received, but it is difficult at this time to definitely fix the programme as to the speakers. The committee also received estimates for band music, decorations and incidentals, which were referred to the executive board.

Ice Water for the W. C. T. U. Miss Mary G. Hay, secretary of the Indiana W. C. T. U., has notified the executive board that that organization, on the day of the parade, will furnish ice water, to be placed in barrels at points along the line of the parade and in the central part of the city. This work will be under charge of a committee of the reunion, of which Mrs. L. M. Beck, Bloomington, will be the nominal chairman, while Miss Hay, of this city, will attend to the local line of the work, the others of the committee being Miss Sadie E. Read, Indianapolis; Mrs. Alice B. Mendenhall, Richmond; Miss Agnes Perry, Goodland; Mrs. Grace Wright, Indianapolis; Mrs. S. K. Loftin, Indianapolis. There will be thirty-six barrels, painted white and neatly decorated with the national colors, also bearing the monogram of the union, W. C. T. U. The barrels will be kept filled with water and ice throughout the day, all at the expense of the union.

Accommodations for All, The citizens' executive board's register of places where lodgings and meals can be had singly or together is increasing rapidly. As early as June 8 it had available accommodations for many thousands, and since then the additions provide double the number. This register does not include free quarters, but those places where from 25 cents to $1 and upward will be charged for lodging and from 25 cents to 50 cents and upward for a meal. Nor does it include hotels and large boarding houses, but only the private boarding houses and places where special provisions to accommodate encampment visitors will be made. The applicants for guests include nearly all classes, from the cottagers to those dwelling in spacious houses with plenty of room to spare. Besides, the number of citizens who are preparing to entertain those who served with them in the army is very large.

Survivors of the "Old Guard." The survivers of the "Old Guard" will meet at Captain Ketcham's office this evening to complete arrangements for their reunion during the encampment. A full attendance is desired. From present indications there will be a larger number present than ever before.

lintes in the Western Territory. B. D. Caldwell, chairman of the Western Passenger Association, has written again to Chairman Lazarus, of the committee on transportation, in regard to reduced rates for the encampment, Under date of Aug. 11 he states that the matter has been under consideration through correspondence, but, at the request of several members of the association, it has been deemed advisa-ble to take the question up at a special meeting, to be held the latter part of this Exhibit of Their Handiwork. During encampment week at Wulschner's' musicatore, where the headquarters of the ladies' committee of the citizens' executive board are now open, an exhibit of the work of the soldiers' and sailors' orphans at the Knightstown home will be made. It will include every branch of industry and art in which the inmates of that institution are taught, such as the making of clothing, shoes, printing and drawing.

Will Be a Big Parade.

The lowest estimate of the number of Grand Army men who will be in the march, Tuesday, Sept. 5, by General Carnahan, gathered from the reports of department officials, is forty thousand, but it is more likely to reach fifty thousand or even sixty thousand-depending much upon the turnout in Illinois, Ohio and other States near

How the City Authorities Could Help.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: If the city authorities use prompt meas ares they can do much to make the city look beautiful before the coming encampment. In all parts of the city dangerous sidewalks, cellar doors and open wells can be found. Dead trees, dangerous and unsightly stumps, old wagons, leaning fences and old building material, some of which has obstructed the streets for years, can be found. Even on Washington street one can find old boxes and barrels which have been used, or, rather, been allowed to obstruct the sidewalk for months, and a thousand and one other things can be seen on every hand. Now, why not have the matters complained of brought before the Board of Public Works for action? From past experience no attention is paid by the board to kicks from individuals, but if the press takes up the question something might be done. GROWLER. INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 14.

Encampment Notes. The committee on review and parade will meet this afternoon, at 4 o'clock, in the offices of the citizens' executive board.

The annual convention of the national and that of the ladies of the Naval Veteran Association will be held Monday, Sept. 4. The reunion of the silent army of deaf soldiers and sailors and marines will be held in the chapel of the Institute for the Deaf, at 9 o'clock, Wednesday morning of the week of the encampment.

Campers on the Assembly Ground Begin to Pack Their Goods and Chattels.

"Tough" Element Makes Its Annual Raid Upon the Cottagers-A Quiet Monday Enjoyed at Camp Acton.

Yesterday was closing day at Bethany Park, appropriate services being conducted in observance of it. There were but forty or fifty people on the grounds and the most of these gathered in the tabernacle at 8 o'clock. At that hour a farewell service was conducted by Mr. Oroutt and participated in by all. Two solos were given by Mr. Hackleman and good speeches were made by Rev. Mr. Ackman, Mr. Mitchell and others. The meeting was over in time for those in attendance to take the 9 o'clock train. But a half-dozen or so are at the park to-day. L. L. Carpenter, Simeon Frazier, Will Clarke, David Bloch, Miss Lucas and a few others are still there, detained by business. The last night at the park is one dreaded by all, from the fact that on that night it | while attempting to alight from an electric is visited by the tough element of the sur- | car at the corner of Ponnsylvania and rounding country. Sunday night was no exception to the general rule, and a force of six men was kept up all night, patrol-ling the grounds. No harm of any consequence was done.

Among those who went to Indianapolis on the morning train were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mitchell, Miss Burgess and Miss Kinsey. They will spend the week in that city, and a reception will be given for them on next Friday evening. The session at Bethany this year has been a very delightful one; the crowd has at no time been unpleasantly large, and many of the addresses have been exceedingly fine. The conventions which have met there accomplished a large amount of important work, and from the many sad farewells on every hand it is evident that numerous warm friendships have been

A romantic instance of the assembly must not be omitted. On Sunday afternoon Mr. McIndoo and Miss Meesdrove from their homes near Bethany to spend some hours at the camp. Mr. McIndoo had a marriage license stowed snugly away in his pocket, and at 4 o'clock the two, accompanied by L. L. Carpenter, betook themselves to the most beantiful and retired grove on the grounds. There, with a few curious people standing around, the ceremony was performed, and before many minutes the happy couple were speeding away towards Indianapolis on the afternoon train.

Monday at Camp Acton. A quiet day succeeded Sunday's busy scenes at Camp Acton, and no indication of the large crowd was left save the belittered condition of portions of the grounds. The campers gener ally subside into ennui Monday, and so very little programme was provided for the day. At 9 o'clock Miss Anderson met the little ones for the last time. They have certainly profited much by her skillful leadership, and the seeds sown in these meetings of the little ones will be as profitable as any of the camp. At 2 o'clock a small congretion gathered for a social service, nn-der the leadership of Rev. Hall. In the evening Rev. L. D. Moore, of Greensburg, preached. He took as his text John xii. "Perceive ye how ye prevail nothing? Behold the world is gone after him." The music of the evening was provided by Professor Hudson. This was the professor's last service and he left on the night train. He leaves a host of dear friends and admirers on the grounds, many of whom have known him for years, others but for ten days, Mr. George Wood, of Aurora, will again take charge of the music to-day. Rev. J. W. Duncan will preach this afternoon and Rev. M. B. Hyde this evening. To-morrow and Thursday afternoon Prof. Robert Neale will deliver his two popular and widely known lectures. Friday and Saturday afternoons Dr. Van Anda will fill the pulpit, and next Sunday Francis Murphy and the temperance league are to take charge of the meetings.

Marvelous Feats on Wheels.

About four hundred people visited Kissel's Garden last evening to witness the fancy bicycle riding of the Pardo family of six performers. Some of the local wheelmen have been resting under the impression that they could do a little "trick riding" themselves, but their eyes were opened when they saw the work of Pardo and his wife and children. Many of the feats were marvelous exhibitions of skill, strength and daring. The show will be repeated to-night. | he can secure revenge.

Preferring Certain Creditors.

The South - side Foundry Company, owned principally by ex-Councilman Thos. Markey, yesterday mortgaged its plant, on Shelby street, to Michael Galm and Matilda Stilwell to secure payment of two notes; one for $500, dated Sept. 10, 1892, and payable to Michael Galm six months after date, and one to Matilda Stilweil for a like amount, dated Jan. 5, 1893, and payable on demand. The company also executed a chattel mortgage on four carloads of pig iron, situated in the Panhandle and Big Four yards, to secure notes to Louis Schneider of the aggregate value of $800. Later in the day the company filed a deed of assignment, with Smith H. Meyers as assignee. The property assigned includes ten pieces of real estate, including the property upon which the foundry is situated and all the tools, machinery, etc., used in the business, and also all accounts and bills receivable to the amount of $1,381.66. The liabilities were not given. About forty-five men are thrown out of work by the failure.

RECEIVERS REMOVED.

Trust Companies to Have Charge of Born & Co. and the Stone Furniture Company. In the Circuit Court, yesterday morning, Judge Brown gave his decision in the petition for the removal of Frederick W. Jose as assignee of Born & Co. The assignee was removed and the Union Trust Company was made assignee instead. The removal was petitioned for by unsecured creditors, representing claims to the amount of $500, and was bitterly opposed by the mortgagees and secured creditors. Unsecured creditors, representing claims to the value of about $1,500, remained neutral throughout the fight. The newly appointed assignee was ordered to take immediate possession. The petition of creditors of the D. E. Stone Furniture Company, for the removal of Smith Myers as assignee, was also granted, and the Indiana Trust Company was appointed receiver and ordered to take possession of the company's property.

DUPED BY A COUNTERFEITER.

Prisoner Puts Up a $50 Bill for Bail and It Proves to Be Bogus.

One of the most indignant men in Indianapolis is John Reed, a special watchman employed by the street railway company at Fairview Park. Mr. Reed's anger is exceedingly well timed, from the fact that he has been the victim of a gross and decidedly mean trick, the perpetrator of which the watchman would not be able to identfy if he should meet him.

Late last Sunday night Reed, in making the rounds of the park, arrested a welldressed couple on the charge of public indecency. The officer was preparing to bring the pair to the city, despite the tears and protests of the woman and the overtures of her male companion to buy off. The latter brought forth an elegant watch and a large roll of money, which he said he would willingly give up if he was allowed to depart, but the officer, indignant at the offer of bribery, proposed to land his prisoners in the station house. Finally the man inquired the amount of bail required for himself and companion, and on being informed that the usual bond for such cases was $50, agreed to produce the amount. The prisoner promptly drawing forth a roll of bills banded Reed a lifty-dollar note. Placing the bill in his pocket the officer dismissed his prisoners with instructions to appear in court on Monday morning or the bail would be forfeited. The couple lost no time in escaping from the park, and Reed continued his routine of work. Yesterday when he handed over the money given him by the prisoner of the night before the astonishing truth was made known that the bill was a clever counterfeit. The man who worked the swindle did not give his name, and the victim as yet has come to no definite plan by which

STRUCK A MURDEROUS BLOW.

John Lahey Assaulted by Mike Powers in Jack Christian's Dive.

In a brawl which occurred in Jack Christian's Kentucky-avenue saloon, about 6 o'clock last night, John Lahey was brutally attacked and seriously injured by Mike Powers. Both men are molders, and Powers boards with Christian over the saloon. Yesterday evening Lahey walked into the house, claiming to have just arrived from Pittsburg in search of employment. He struck up a conversation with Powers, and after a couple of drinks the men drifted on to the subject of prize fighting, Lahey making the assertion that he was pretty handy with the gloves himself. The proprietor heard the statement and remarked that there was a pair of boxing mittens in the saloon, which they might try if they desired, and Powers, agreeing to the scheme, undertook to spar a round with

The latter proved himself a master in the art, and about the first thing he did was to land a hearty blow over one of the eyes of his antagonist. Powers, smarting with pain and anger, drew off the gloves, but was apparently appeased by the offer of Lahey to stand treat. Over a round of beer they discussed the matter satisfactorily to both. A few moments later Lahey asked one of the men loating about the saloon to have a drink, neglecting to invite Powers. The latter made no remark over the slight, but stealing behind the bar secured a heavy stonemason's square, and when Lahey's back was turned dealt him a fearful blow on the head. The implement struck a side blow and cutting a bloody gash in the scalp nearly severed an ear. Lahey fell to the floor to all appearances dead, and his assailant fled from the place. Robert Catterson, police commissioner, who was across the street, witnessed the affray and ran over to the saloon just after the cowardly blow was struck. He saw that Lahey was badly injured and summoned Dr. Durham by telephone. The physician succeeded in reviving the wounded man and ascertained that he was not fatally injured, although the wound on his head presented a frightful appearance. Lahey was taken to the station house, where his wounds were dressed. Powers was captured later by patrolman Duty and detective Stout, and locked up on the charge of assault and battery with intent to kill. Those who witnessed the murderous blow say that it was wholly unprovoked.

The deer was a tine specimen and was highly prized, as it was a gift to the President from an intimate friend in the West.

kind is the finding of lost health -the building-up of " a run-down system. Nothing does it so surely as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures all the do-rangements, irregularities and weaknesses peculiar to the sex. It's the most perfect of strength-givers, imparting tone and vigor to the whole system. For overworked, debilitated teachers, milliners, seamstre girls," nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, it is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

"Favorite Prescription" gives satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it is promptly refunded. That's the way it's sold; that's the way its makers prove their faith in it. Contains no alcohol to inebriate; no syrup or sugar to derange digestion; a legitimate medicine, not a beverage. Purely vegetable and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system.
